Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Heckman (5,183,173). Heckman discloses, in fig. 1, a cap device comprising a closure 12, a handle 64, a disk-shaped torque member 100 a plate attachment mechanism that rotatably attaches the torque member to the closure, wherein the plate attachment mechanism includes a first engagement element 120 disposed on a circumference of the torque member to be elastically deformable, and a second engagement element 130 disposed on a circumference of the closure. The cap device further comprises a handle attachment mechanism having a handle 44, cover 50 and a cover engagement element 56 (see fig. 5) engaging with a torque member engagement element 110.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Heckman in view of Crute (4,978,097).

Heckman does not disclose the disk-shaped torque member having a frangible portion.

Crute teaches, in figs.1, 3 and 4, a cap device comprising a disk-shaped torque member 50 having a frangible portion.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the Crute disk-shaped torque member with a frangible portion, in view of the teaching of Crute, in order to keep the sealing properties of the gas tank from the outside.
